Workshop Description:
This presentation will focus on the key dimensions for assessing human problems and evolving healing solutions. Genograms are the core mapping tool of this work. A genogram is a map of who you belong to. The workshop will focus on viewing each person in the context of his or her cultural background, social class, gender and sexual orientation, family history, life cycle trajectory, and multiple identities and on paying particular attention to issues of belonging, loss, conflict, cutoff, and secrecy in families. We will examine triangles, couple relationships, and the impact of loss on family patterns.

Learning Objectives:
1. To use a genogram for assessing and intervening in family problems.
2. To consider the impact of therapists' own cultural background on their values, ideas, and therapeutic approach.
3. How to use systemic concepts to assess and bypass family cutoffs at multiple levels of the system--cultural, generational, interactional.
